Five Vie For Homecoming Queen

A highlight of Homecoming activities at Murray State University on Saturday, Oct. 21, will be the crowning of one of five finalists for the title of 1978 Homecoming Queen.

Chosen from 48 candidates nominated by campus organizations for the honor are: Lisa Barriger, Paducah senior; Beti Jean Fox, Louisville junior; Pamela Graham, Belleville, Ill., junior; Barbara Kemper, Murray senior; and Ranona Ligon, Bardwell sophomore.

The winner, to be elected by the student body Wednesday, will be crowned in pre-game ceremonies to begin at 1:30 p.m. in Roy Stewart Stadium before the 2 p.m. kickoff of the football game between Murray State and East Tennessee State University. Miss Barriger, 21-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Barriger, represents Alpha Delta Pi social sorority. She is 5-2 and weighs 103 pounds, with brown hair and blue eyes. Her campus activities include Beta Alpha Psi national accounting fraternity, Accounting Society, Alpha Lambda Delta freshman honor society, and business manager of the 1979 Shield, the school yearbook. She is an accounting major.

Ms. Fox, a business education major, is sponsored by Essence. The 19-year-old daughter of Gladys and James R. Fox has brown eyes and reddish-brown hair. She is 5-5 and weighs 135 pounds. Her campus activities include track and Pi Omega Pi.

Miss Graham, 20, is a journalism major sponsored in the competition of Alpha Gamma Delta social sorority. The brown-haired, brown-eyed daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burt Graham is 5-8 and weighs 125 pounds. She is a member of the Student Activities Board of the Student Government Association. Miss Graham is a resident adviser in Hester Hall and a member of the campus pom-pom squad. Her honors include Miss Greater Southwestern Illinois of 1978, a top-finalist and swimsuit winner in the 1978 Miss Illinois Pageant, and Homecoming Queen attendant in 1977.

Miss Kemper represents Alpha Phi, which she serves as president, and Alpha Psi Omega, which she serves as secretary-treasurer. She is the 21-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Kemper of Cadiz, formerly of Murray. A blue-eyed blond who is 5-4 and weighs 110 pounds, Miss Kemper was Miss Murray State of 1976. She is a member of the Sock and Buskin Club and active in University Theatre productions.

Miss Ligon is an elementary education major and represents the

Says Congressman's Action In McClure Case 'Offensive'

Atkins Critical Of Hubbard's Call For Special Prosecutor

By HERBERT SPARROW
Associated Press Writer

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — State Auditor George Atkins has taken sharp exception to Congressman Carroll Hubbard's call for a special prosecutor in the case of former Finance and Administration secretary Russell McClure.

Atkins and Hubbard, both from Western Kentucky, have been critical of the Carroll administration and have generally been considered political allies.

Atkins said during taping Friday of WLEX-TV's "Your Government" panel show that he will broadcast Sunday that he considers the Carroll administration corrupt. But he said he found Hubbard's action offensive.

Atkins said he found it serious and saddening that McClure was indicted this week by the Franklin County grand jury for allegedly violating state law regarding the disposal of two state vehicles.

"But now to throw it around like a political football I find offensive," Atkins said. "We have enough problems in state government without this becoming a political football, and for people to jump in and say we need a special prosecutor."

Atkins also criticized former Louisville Mayor Harvey Sloan, like Atkins an announced candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in 1979, for calling for McClure's resignation.

Atkins said the indictment is not a guilty verdict and the proper procedure would be to place McClure on an administrative leave of absence without pay.

Gov. Julian Carroll has not yet decided the status of McClure, who now serves as a special consultant on Carroll's office staff.

Atkins denied that his comments represented any break with Hubbard but were directed at the congressman's comments in calling for a special prosecutor.

Hubbard had requested a special prosecutor in a telegram to Carroll, citing the fact that Franklin County Commonwealth Attorney Ray Corns will be the county chairman for the gubernatorial campaign of Terry McBrayer, the administration's choice to succeed Carroll.

bid from Hal Wright Construction of Mayfield to build a middle school and field house at the site of Calloway County High.

The ordinance that will be read at a public meeting Tuesday, Oct. 17, beginning at 4 p.m., authorizes the issuance and sale of bonds, proceeds to be applied to pay the cost of construction and acquisition of the middle school.

Calloway County Judge-Executive Robert O. "Bob" Miller told magistrates Gil Hopson, Billy Erwin, Dan Bazzell and Tommy Bogard Friday that under Kentucky law, boards of education cannot float school building bonds. The county will "own" the building and grounds and the local school board will pay lease money enough to retire the interest and principal on the bonds to the county, Miller explained.

An official with J.B.B. Hilliard and W.L. Lyons bond firm of Paducah and Louisville said Thursday night the bond issue will probably not exceed $2,150,000.

The 60,000 square foot middle school will house some 600 students. School officials say they are hoping the academic portion of the school will be ready for occupancy next fall.

Other fiscal court bond ordinance special meetings are set Oct. 20 and 30.

Magistrates also Friday afternoon agreed to award three separate contracts to Egyptian Waterproofing of Harrisburg, Ill., to repair the county courthouse clock tower and roof, re-roof the county courthouse, and do other general repair work on the county facility. The $11,312 estimated cost of the three-phase project is well under original estimates of $22,000.

In other fiscal court business Friday:

Magistrates heard a report from Calloway County Humane Society on the July, August and September activities of county animal shelter. According to Keith Helm, president of the society, the shelter received 413 dogs and 127 cats during the period. Some 134 dogs and 41 cats were eventually adopted, Helm said.

Fiscal court members heard a status report from an official with U.S. Army National Guard which is locating a unit here. A related story appears elsewhere on this page.

Magistrates voted to close a portion of the "old" Wadesboro-Murray Road located in northeastern Calloway County. Magistrates also accepted deeds for a project on Tucker Road south of Kirksey. And in a related matter, fiscal court magistrates voted to advertise for bids for two gravel dump trucks.

Magistrates also agreed to lease portions of the "old" county garage.

Professors To Be At Conference

Dr. James F. Thompson and Dr. Gilbert Mathis, both professors of economics at Murray State University, will participate as issue presenters at the Governor's Rural Economic Development Conference, to be held Oct. 16-18 in Owensboro.

Dr. Thompson will speak on "Changes in Financial Institutions and Laws in Relation to Their Allocation of Capital." Thompson is a member of the board of directors of the Federal Reserve Bank in Louisville.

Mathis, who served as a consultant for the Kentucky Development Cabinet and the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway Authority during the past summer, will speak on "Investment Strategies to Enhance Economic Development in Western Kentucky."

Gov. Julian M. Carroll and U.S. Senator Walter (Dee) Huddleston will be among a group of other speakers scheduled to participate and including: William L. Short, secretary of the development cabinet; former Gov. Edward T. Breathitt; and Sara V. Craig of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

the team is the pace of the leader. Only can corruption exist if the leader condones it."

Atkins said it would be foolish for two western Kentucky, anti-administration candidates to both seek the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. Hubbard has not said whether he would run for governor, but has indicated that he might.

The auditor also said Hubbard's action in bringing the name of eastern Kentucky coal operator Paul Patton into the picture as a possible gubernatorial candidate with Hubbard's backing was a mystery to Atkins.

Local National Guard Recruiting Effort Getting Into Full Swing

With the Murray unit of the Kentucky Army National Guard here, the anticipation of Murray having its own National Guard unit is now a reality.

"The many responsible citizens have sacrificed greatly to accomplish the task of getting a unit assigned to this community," a guard spokesman said. "Now is the time for all citizens to support the recruiting effort," he added.

A recruiting team from Frankfort and Paducah is now in Murray to accept applications for qualified applicants to be charter members of the Murray Unit. Necessary requirements for non-prior service people is to complete nine years of education, be between the ages of 17 and 34, and be able to pass a mental and physical exam to determine eligibility.

"For prior service members, we will need a copy of all military papers that you received upon discharge," the spokesman said.

The temporary armory is located at 403 Sunbury Circle, just off Ky. 121 (S. 4th St.).

The armory will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. for the next seven days. The recruiters will be available to answer all questions pertaining to the necessary qualifications to join the Murray unit.

The recruiting force that will be working here includes Captain E. C. Head, recruiting and retention manager for the state of Kentucky, Cpt. Head will be here to organize and coordinate the start of the recruiting drive. Second in command is MSG AI D'Ambrosio, area NCO for Kentucky we will be here until Oct. 20. SFC Tom Jones, production recruiter for the 1-123d AR Bn. with the assistance of SSG Mike Carden will round out the professional recruiting force.

NATIONAL GUARD RECRUITERS — Staff Sgt. Mike Carden, left, and Master Sgt. Alfred J. D'Ambrosio, right, are members of the National Guard recruiting team who will work locally during the next few weeks in getting the Murray unit started. The new Murray unit will be a part of Company C of the First Battalion, 123rd Armor Division with headquarters in Paducah. Local armory headquarters are on Sunbury Circle off of South Fourth Street. Hours are 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. seven days a week.

"We also have Cpt. Bruce Thomas, a local savings and loan officer, and several other local guardsmen that are co-operating with us in many ways," the spokesman added.

"A total combined effort of the citizens of Murray and Calloway Co. will make this drive successful as well as the future success or failure of the unit," the spokesman emphasized. "This is one of the most important part time jobs in America," he added.

Everyone here at Fern Terrace are feeling much better now that fall is coming. We all enjoyed the summer but feeling much better now that it is cooler.

Our residents are looking forward to our Halloween Party, which will be held Oct. 27th at 7 p.m. We have some of our decorations up now.

We want to welcome into our Fern Terrace family the following people, Irene Bivins, Floyd Sutherland, Ollie Tidwell, Alice Fleming, Becum Duncan, Ethel Fuqua & Nevada Hodge.

Wish a speedy recovery to Mrs. Ruth Reagan, Dommie Cleaver & Carrie Behme. We hope they will soon be back home with us.

We were quite saddened that someone chose to steal our hanging ferns from the front porch. I know they will not enjoy them like our residents did here.

That's about all the news for this time from Fern Terrace so come visit with us at any time you are always welcome.

For information about Fern Terrace contact Mrs. Tapp or Mrs. Bailey any day from 9-5, call 753-7109 or stop by.

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

Platonic Bliss

DEAR ABBY: Jim and I have been married for over 40 years. We are both in our late 60s and still love each other deeply. However, due to Jim's impotence, we have not been sexually active for at least three years. This has not altered our relationship one iota. We still have a wonderful marriage and don't feel necessarily deprived.

Abby, I resent the constant bombardment from TV, radio and newspaper and magazine articles insisting that anyone who is under 90 and isn't sexually active should rush out and get some kind of therapy in order to live a "full life" again. Jim and I DO live a full life. Sign me...

CONTENTED

DEAR CONTENTED: If you're contented, fine. But the bombardment you resent is intended for the older person who buys the myth (and it IS a myth) that sex is for the young only.

Not true. Of course, with increasing age comes the natural slowing down of the entire body, sexual activities included; but they need not stop.

After all, just because you can no longer Charleston all night doesn't mean you can't waltz for an hour.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with a woman for nearly two years and I have never seen her in a dress! She absolutely refuses to wear one.

I have quit taking her out in public because she insists on wearing pants everywhere. Once, I even gave her money to buy a dress, but that didn't do any good.

Tell me, Abby, is there something wrong with her? Or do you think maybe I'm expecting too much?

GLEN

DEAR GLEN: There is remote possibility that her legs are disfigured, or she considers them unrepresentable. In any case, it's her right to wear whatever she chooses, and it's your right to refuse to escort her for reasons of your own.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please put something in your column that would be a tremendous help to a lot of people? I refer to those individuals who are constantly complaining about their aches and pains. To hear them talk, nobody except themselves ever had a bad back, or stomach trouble or any kind of operation. No matter how hard the listener tries to steer the conversation to a more pleasant subject, these chronic complainers go on and on about their ailments. It's really too depressing for words.

A lot of these folks read your column. Please give them some kind of message. A gentle hint does no good. They go on and on.

TIRE OF HEARING IT

DEAR TIRE: We are all familiar with the type of "organ recital" you describe. In this connection, no one has topped the advice of the late Ella Wheeler Wilcox:

"Talk health. The dreary, never-ending tales of mortal maladies are worn and stale. You cannot charm or interest or please by harping on that minor cord-disease. So, say that you are well, and all is well with you. And God will hear your words and make them true."

Do you wish you had more friends? For the secret of popularity, get Abby's new booklet: "How To Be Popular: You're Never Too Young or Too Old." Send $1 with a long, self-addressed, stamped (28 cent) envelope to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Lutheran Ladies To Hold All Day Meet

Immanuel Lutheran Church Ladies will meet for a short business meeting and all day workshop in the church lounge at 9:30 a.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 17.

Ladies are asked to bring their own sandwich for lunch, and coffee and dessert will be provided by Marion Brockhoff, hostess for the day. The women are also asked to bring any unfinished items for the November Bazaar. The day will be spent working on a variety of bazaar items and also the comforters for World Relief.

Much help will be needed, and any interested ladies are asked to come for all day, or for any amount of time they can stay, according to Dolly Lorenz, president.

Starks-Yarbrough Wedding Solemnized At Church

The wedding vows of Miss Sherrie Ann Starks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Starks, and Terry Lee Yarbrough, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Yarbrough, were solemnized at six p.m. on a summer evening at the First Christian Church, Murray.

Bro. John Dale performed the double ring candlelight ceremony before an altar beautifully decorated with a brass arch touched with greenery. The arch was accented with brass candelabra and giant green ferns on columns. The pew markers were tall white candles draped in greenery. Pink and wine ribbons encircled one pink silk rose on each marker forming an array of fall colors.

A program of nuptial music was performed by Dan McDaniel, organist, and Mrs. Oneida White, vocalist.

Bride's Dress

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, was given in marriage by her parents. She wore a wedding gown of imported silk organza. The demi-fitted Chantilly lace bodice was fashioned with a scoop neckline edged by hand clipped fleur-de-lis and seed pearls, and was repeated on the crescent waist and cuffs of the sheer bishop sleeves.

The a-line skirt was enhanced with re-embroidered lace appliques centered with seed pearls. A front cascade of matching lace edged the circular skirt, flowing to a chapel train. Her finger tip length veil of silk illusion was edged with Chantilly lace attached to a Juliet style crown which was accented with tiny seed pearls of white. The headpiece was designed and hand sewn by the bride.

The bride carried a double bouquet of roses, carnations, daisies, and baby's breath. Pink ribbons hung from underneath the bouquet while the white cymbidium orchid was in the center of the bouquet.

During the ceremony the bride presented her mother with a pink silk rose. The couple lighted the unity candles during the reading of the vows. As the couple left the altar they stopped for the bride to present her new mother-in-law with a pink rose.

Miss Kim Starks, cousin of the bride, was the maid of honor, and Mrs. Cheryl Bolen was the matron of honor.

The attendants wore long sleeve formal gowns. The print of the dress was that of pink and wine swirls accented with touches of beige, mint green, and blue gray. Each attendant carried three long stemmed pink silk roses tied together with wine ribbon streamers and bows. Their pink picture hats were accented with wine bow ribbon.

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Lee Yarbrough

Miss Lori Yarbrough, niece of the groom, served as flower girl. She wore a dress identical to that of the other attendants, and had a wine bow accented with little paper flowers in her hair. She carried a white woven basket of pink silk roses, baby's breath, and rose petals.

Miss Debbie Volpe, cousin of the bride, was an honorary bridesmaid. She wore a pink quiana floor length dress and was presented a corsage of pink carnations by the bride.

Donnie Yarbrough was best man for the groom. Mark Starks served as groomsman. Shane Paschall carried the aisle cloth for the ceremony.

The groom wore a burgundy colored tuxedo with tails. His boutonniere consisted of flowers similar to those in the bride's bouquet. The best man and groomsman wore burgundy tuxedos with pink carnation boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride wore a floor length gown of pink crepe with the laced bodice accented with a pink chiffon and ruffled lace cape. The groom's mother was attired in a blue two piece floor length gown of quiana knit accented by accordion pleats and a thin self tie belt. They wore corsages of white cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Nancy Yarbrough and Mrs. Sabrina Leslie kept the guest register at the table overlaid with white lace over pink. Centering the table was a hurricane lamp over a large pink dripped candle surrounded by pink and white cloth flowers.

Reception
Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Murray Jaycee Civic Center.

The bridal table was overlaid with a white cloth and net with wine bows at the corners. Gold candelabra decorated with pink and wine carnations and greenery centered the bridal table. A three tiered column cake was decorated with wine roses set on the end of the table. Mrs. Sabrina Leslie and Mrs. Nancy Yarbrough served the cake.

Dan McDaniel served a buffet dinner to the guests. Music and dancing followed the dinner.

The couple left later for a short honeymoon at Lake Barkley Lodge and now reside on Murray Route Five.

Out of town guests included Mrs. Anna Volpe, Miss Debbie Volpe, Mr. and Mrs. Gasper Volpe, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Futrell, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Drabkowski, Mr. and Mrs. James Lyles, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Spain, and Mr. and Mrs. James Lindsey.

Rehearsal Dinner
Mr. and Mrs. Gus Yarbrough, parents of the groom, entertained the wedding party with a rehearsal dinner at the Colonial House Smorgasbord.

Mrs. Yarbrough decorated the tables with pink candle hurricane lamps surrounded by greenery, matching placemats and napkin holders, and little pink woven baskets of assorted dried flowers.

Dr. F.J.L. BLASINGAME

Nutrition Important In Treating Cancer Patients

Q. Mr. H. S. writes that he saw a television show involving members of congress and several national cancer authorities. The discussion brought out the fact that, according to the congressmen, cancer research had not emphasized nutrition in cancer patients in spite of the facts pointing to its benefit in management.

Mr. H. S. asks, "Is it true that nutrition is important in taking care of cancer patients? If so, are researchers overlooking its benefits?"

A. The national cancer program funded by Congress has been criticized for not making as much progress as originally envisioned. Certain congressmen have felt that the results have not justified the costs. One point of criticism has been that researchers have not given adequate attention to optimal nutrition in the management of cancer victims.

Cancer appears to produce a toxic effect and often results in fever, weight loss, and general weakness. These patients often become malnourished.

Lack of nutrition impairs resistance to disease, including cancer, and adds to the discomfort of cancer victims.

Differences of opinion exist among researchers about the relative importance of nutrition in overcoming cancer and in searching for its relief and cure. Other authorities feel more emphasis should be given to nutrition in overall management of cancer patients, making them more resistant to the disease and, adding some measure of enrichment to their remaining life span.

Some authorities believe more attention needs to be given to nutrition in the treatment of all other diseases, as well as cancer patients, especially persons having serious surgical procedures for noncancerous conditions.

"Super nutrition," according to Mitchell Kaminski, Jr., M.D., president-elect of the American Society of Parenteral and Enteral Nutritionists, can greatly improve cancer patients' chances of recovery. Persons with cancer and other pressing medical problems may require not only oral feedings but intravenous feedings (which include amino acids, fats, minerals, vitamins, and other nutrients). He adds, "We are duplicating those reserves that the body stores for itself. It is like giving a patient another body, bringing in the nutrition he needs from the outside after his own stores are exhausted."

Dr. Kaminski predicts greater attention to nutrition in the future in management of chronically ill patients, including cancer victims.

Inside Report

By Howard Evans and Robert Novak

Where Was Teddy?

WASHINGTON — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy sponsored a human rights amendment last year to cut off all munitions exports to Argentina as of last Saturday (Sept. 20), but several months later voted for an unpublishable loophole permitting a Massachusetts company to continue selling periscopes for Argentine submarines.

When the Massachusetts company — Kollmorgen, of Northampton — went to Kennedy to ask for the exemption, Kennedy's office told us the senator replied that he felt so strongly about human rights he would have trouble supporting any exemption.

But Kennedy's colleague, Republican Sen. Edward Brooke who is in a tough reelection contest, quietly went to bat for Kollmorgen. He slipped the exemption into a Defense Department supplemental appropriation bill. When that bill reached the floor of the Senate, Kennedy voted yes, and the bill, which allows Kollmorgen to continue selling periscopes destined for the Argentine navy, passed 90 to 0.

Kennedy's aides told us the senator did not know the exemption was in the bill when he voted for it, a disclaimer that raises eyebrows among senators who recognize Kennedy's staff as one of the most alert and best-informed on Capitol Hill.

The munitions cutoff in Kennedy's 1977 bill — aimed specifically and solely at Argentina for its human rights violations — did not take effect until Sept. 30, 1978. Under the exemption that Kennedy staffers insist slipped by him without his knowledge, Kollmorgen will continue making periscopes for Argentina, with no trace of Kennedy having opened a loophole for a Massachusetts company.

FORD IN '80?

Two top Republicans who haven't joined the "Ford won't run" pack are House minority leader John Rhodes and Rep. Guy Vanderjagt of Michigan, chairman of the House Republican Campaign Committee.

In a private chat in the House cloakroom recently, Vanderjagt told Rhodes that it looked to him as though fellow Michigander Ford was truly eager to make another run for the presidency in 1980. Rhodes replied to this effect: Yes, I agree, and if he goes all out he can be nominated.

That is not consistent with conventional party wisdom. Most Republicans, including some close to the former president, feel he is far more likely to back a moderate like George Bush against Ronald Reagan, rather than running himself.

GOOD MONEY

AFTER BAD

On the insistence of Sen. Robert Byrd, the Senate majority leader, Sen. Maryon Allen of Alabama got a third $5,000 contribution from the Senate Democratic campaign fund just before the crucial Senate vote on President Carter's hotly-contested gas deregulation bill.

Over the protests of Sen. Alan Cranston, Byrd's Senate Democratic whip, and other members of the Senate Campaign committee — including Sen. Howard Metzenbaum — Byrd stuck to his guns. One possible reason: he wanted Mrs. Allen's vote on the gas bill. Cranston was doubtful about the final $5,000 contribution for Mrs. Allen's primary election run-off because her opponent, state Sen. Donald Stewart, looked like (and proved to be) an easy winner. As for Metzenbaum, he was a leader in the losing battle against the gas bill.

One Senate insider told us that proof of a link between the contribution and the gas bill is unobtainable, but he privately expressed certainty that the link was there. Mrs. Allen was uncommitted on the gas bill until just before the vote, then voted for it.

A footnote: Sen. Paul Hatfield of Montana, appointed to the Senate to fill a vacancy just as Mrs. Allen was, also received a $5,000 campaign contribution — just before the vote on the Panama Canal treaties early this year. He voted for the embattled treaties, but lost his primary election to Rep. Max Baucus by a huge margin.

THE DIVIDED DFL

Tensions disrupting Minnesota's once monolithic Democratic-Farmer-Labor party (DFL) were on display when the wife of aide to Vice President Walter F. Mondale pinned the campaign button of a Republican Senate candidate on her lapel.

Mrs. Michael Berman, wife of Mondale's counsel and close political aide, appeared in public wearing a button boosting liberal Republican David Durenberger, his party's nominee for Hubert Humphrey's old Senate seat. Later, the Bermans dined with Mrs. Durenberger at The Palm, a popular Washington restaurant frequented by Democratic politicians. Mrs. Berman was still wearing the Durenberger button.

True, the Durenbergers and Bermans are longtime friends. But would Mrs. Berman be wearing a Republican button had Rep. Donald Fraser, a DFL liberal stalwart, won the Democratic primary?

Fraser was upset by maverick conservative Democrat Robert Short, who is viewed as the devil incarnate by the Mondale — that is, the liberal — wing of the DFL. Although Mondale publicly backed Short after the primary, some Mondale aides do not disguise their contempt for Short.

Echoes From The Past

By Judy Maupin

(A Column of historical and genealogical anecdotes, stories and family notes.)

The Champion Family In Kentucky

For the last few weeks, this column has dealt with John Donelson's early explorations of West Kentucky. Coincidentally, I attended a family reunion at Camp Energy, LBL, which lies in with this early exploration. The family which held its second annual reunion, was Champion. Its main organizer and researcher is a very nice woman named Bonnie Duff Smith, who lived, before TVA took over Land Between the Lakes, in Lyon County, near Demumbers Bay.

I have corresponded with Bonnie several times (she lives in Cleveland, Texas now) about her family, the Duffs and the Champions, trying to tie up the loose ends which are the inevitable result of almost any genealogical research. It seems that her great-grandmother (who married a Duff) was originally a Donelson, and family legend has it that she was related in some way to Rachel Donelson, who married Andrew Jackson. For this reason, Bonnie has been very interested in the diary of the trip made by John Donelson. There is evidence that he passed very close to the original home site, as is evidenced by the naming of Demumbers Bay, a colloquialization of Demonbruen — Timothy Demonbruen was a well-known mercantile agent at the old site of Nashville and may well have been part of the exploration party.

It is also part of the family legends that the old cabin — now almost in pieces — was visited by General Grant, during his trip from Paducah to Fort Henry, at a much later date.

Bonnie has compiled much of her family history into a book entitled The Champion Trails in America — 1607-1978. In it, she traces the family lineage back to England, as well as relating many family stories, some of which I hope to share next week. This week, I would like to excerpt from the section dealing with her great-grandfather, Dr. Emilius Champion (1856-1931).

"He was taught the basics of medicine by his father and was often called upon to minister aid when his father was unavailable due to ill health or attendance to other patients. He was quite young when called upon to fill in for his father and he was quickly nicknamed 'Little Doc' by these patients. They liked him so well and he was apparently quite good at setting broken bones and sewing up cuts, they began to ask for him instead of his father.

This went on for some time before the authorities asked him for an explanation for his practicing medicine without benefit of a license! He was given the choice of attending medical school or going into court over the matter. He decided to attend school and went to Vanderbilt Medical College in Louisville, where he graduated as a qualified physician with a license to practice medicine.

Farming was his first love and remained so all during his life. He was deeply involved in the Black Patch Wars in Kentucky about 1909 and was considered one of the ringleaders of the burning of tobacco warehouses in rebellion to the regulations being forced onto the tobacco growers. A cousin, Macon Champion, was arrested in Calloway County and he implicated the others. This led to Emilius' arrest and conviction. He was so well liked in all the surrounding communities that a petition was circulated and received many signatures. It contained almost all the signatures of residents of Calvert City and Birmingham, requesting a full pardon. He was pardoned by the governor of Kentucky, and the people then pressured him to run for the Legislature, but he declined.

He was twice married. His first marriage to my great-grandmother, Amanda Ann Brown, was quite stormy. Amanda was jealous, with cause of her husband and his female patients. If he was a little late returning from a call to one of these patients, he was likely to be greeted by a flying missile — skillet, bowls, whatever was handy. He was often locked out of the house if it was a night call. On one occasion, he was quite late, it was the middle of winter, and he was locked out. Everyone went to bed and when he returned and couldn't get in because the doors were locked, he tried to climb in his bedroom window only to be greeted by a basin of hot water. He gave up on getting in that particular window and went around to try and get in his son's window only to find it stuck tight — this is where his son awoke to find his father clinging to the window frame vainly trying to open the window while soaked and almost frozen.

Emilius was quite a cut-up, loved practical jokes and teasing and kept the household in a constant uproar. It must have been an exciting and fairly happy life, but something went wrong because this marriage ended in divorce. Amanda was so mad at him that she legally changed her name to Brown again after their divorce. She never remarried.

It was reported in one of the many stories about Dr. Champion that he "obstetrically delivered Keen Johnson — later Lieutenant Governor and Governor of Kentucky, assisted by Mrs. Sadie Ramage." In the local papers around 1907-1909, his name figured prominently in many of the Tobacco War activities, the most notorious of which was the raid on Birmingham. But as far as the newspaper accounts recall, Dr. Champion's main involvement seems to have been merely patching up the other combatants.

Next week, we will go into more of the Champion family history and stories.

Letters To The Editor

Humane Society

Says Thanks

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the members of the Humane Society of Calloway County, I would like to thank the several hundred citizens of Murray and Calloway County who turned out Sunday, October 8, for the opening of the new county animal shelter. Their interest and general praise for the structure were heartening and indicative of the importance they place on the humane treatment of animals and the solution of animal problems in this area. Certainly, all Calloway countians have a right to be proud of their new shelter!

I would also like to thank Judge-Executive Robert O. Miller, the members of the Fiscal Court, Warren Hale, and Charles McKenney for their support and assistance in planning and preparing for the open house. Special thanks should go to the following firms which donated food and other items for the event: Southside IGA, Northside IGA, Owens Food Market, Flavo-Rich Milk Company, Krogers, Sammons Bakery, Scott Drugs, Murray Catering and Opal Smith. Juanita's Florist furnished flowers, and Max Churchill erected a tent. Thanks also to The Murray Ledger & Times, WNSB, WSJP, and Channel 6 for providing publicity and news coverage.

Without the generosity and assistance of the county officials, the above firms, and many other individuals who cannot be listed here, the open house could not have been the success that it was. We are most grateful to all of them.

A noon luncheon will follow the morning worship service with the Christian Women's Fellowship in charge of the preparations and serving. Karin McFerron and Helen Campbell are general chairmen.

Mrs. Cleo Apperson will tell about her recent trip to Italy and show her pictures at the vesper services at six p.m. on Sunday.

The youth groups will meet at 5:30 p.m. for supper with meetings at six p.m. Sunday.

Congressional Negotiators Hold Key To Congress' Adjournment

By EDMOND Le BRETON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) —

Congressional negotiators, trying to make a veto-proof tax-cut bill out of the Senate's $29.3 billion version and the House's $16.3 billion alternative, hold the key to Congress' adjournment.

After a full day of private negotiations among themselves and with Carter administration representatives Friday, tax conferees planned a public session today to see how close they are to agreement on the big bill.

One stumbling block to agreement on taxes apparently has been thrust aside. Key congressional aides say the tuition tax credit provision is dead for the year.

The apparent reason: adamant Senate opposition to House insistence that college credits be accompanied by similar aid for pupils in private elementary and secondary schools.

On today's official last day of the session — a day expected to run well past midnight — supporters of the much-compromised energy package were in a strong position. Holding their breaths, they saw the House vote Friday, 207-206, to keep the bundle intact and stave off a separate vote on its most controversial element, natural gas pricing.

With all the elements lumped together there was general expectation the energy measure would be approved by a comfortable margin in the House since the alternative was no bill at all.

All but one of the five sections have cleared the Senate. The fifth, a watered-down energy-tax measure including a levy on fuel-inefficient cars and a credit up to $300 for home insulation was expected to pass routinely today before the House took up the package.

But the conferees on the big tax bill had a full measure of problems. President Carter objects to the size of the Senate tax cut, to the extent of tax relief provided for capital gains, and to a Republican-backed provision, supported by votes in both chambers, for further tax reductions beginning in 1980 contingent on spending restraints.

As lawmakers worked deep into the night Friday, Congress disposed of a variety of other issues:

The House voted reprimands for three members accused by its ethics committee of various improprieties in connection with funds received from South Korean businessman Tongsun Park. They are Reps. Edward R. Roybal, Charles H. Wilson and John J. McFall, all California Democrats.

The Senate approved the Humphrey-Hawkins employment bill, already passed in somewhat different form by the House. But the Senate voted to include a strong anti-inflation goal alongside the bill's call for reduced joblessness. The bill's chances for final passage hinge on how the House reacts to the change.

As a dispute between the House and Senate on the use of federal funds to pay for abortions continued to block the appropriation bill for the Labor and Health, Education and preservation projects and for urban parks, community centers and athletic fields.

Congressional action was completed also on long-pending legislation to tax fuel used on inland waterways and provide a $421 million replacement for the Mississippi River Locks and Dam 26 at Alton, Ill.

After a 15-week deadlock, congressional conferees agreed on compromise legislation that would require companies with sick-leave or and Welfare departments, the Senate passed a stopgap legislation to fund the departments and release delayed paychecks.

A bill appropriating $7.3

billion for foreign aid and authorizing a $1.8 billion contribution to the International Monetary Fund's special program for developing countries pinched by high oil prices went to the president after the Senate took the final legislative step.

Also sent to the president was a bill authorizing $1.2 billion for disability-pay programs to extend coverage to pregnant workers. They agreed companies would not have to pay for abortion but would be required to cover costs of sick leave and medical care should a worker be disabled as a result of an abortion.

The House Ways and Means Committee was unable to gather a quorum for consideration of a Senate-passed hospital cost control bill and the measure may be in danger of not passing during the session.

Guidry, Though Not His Best, Rescues Yankees

By the Associated Press
NEW YORK — Ron Guidry got the win and Graig Nettles picked up the save, rescuing the New York Yankees in the crucial third game of the 75th World Series.

The Yankees came home Friday night and enjoyed it immensely, beating Los Angeles 3-1 to halve the Dodgers' lead in the best-of-seven Series to 2-1.

Today, in a rematch of the opening game pitchers, righthander Ed Figueroa tries to erase his "choke" label when he opposes left-handed sinkerball specialist Tommy John, who had the Yankees hitting ground balls last Tuesday night.

Guidry, the 25-game winner in the regular season, pitched out of jams all night Friday, and his best "out" pitch was the hard grounder to Nettles, the magical third baseman.

"Guidry didn't beat us; Nettles did," said Dodger second baseman Daye Lopez, who was robbed on one of Nettles' gems in the sixth inning with two out and the bases loaded.

"He probably saved four or five runs for the Yankees," said Dodger slugger Steve Garvey, who also was victimized by Nettles' gold glove with the bases loaded and two out in the fifth. "He was the key."

Roy White homered in the opening inning for the Yankees' first run. Nettles singled and scored in the second for all the runs Guidry would need.

"If you save your club a couple of runs, it's as good as an RBI or two," said Nettles, who has been struggling at the plate in the Series. "I think I can play third base as well as anybody."

The Dodgers seemed in awe of Nettles' fielding plays while the Yankees, seeing his greatness all season, considered it just another day at the office for the classy third baseman.

"What he did tonight is not out of the ordinary. It was just on national TV," said Reggie Jackson, the Yankee slugger whose line single knocked in the middle run of a three-run seventh inning off Dodger starter Don Sutton. It was the seventh straight Series game in which Jackson has delivered a run — one short of Lou Gehrig's record set a half century ago.

"His nickname is 'Puff,' but he blew the Dodgers out," quipped Jackson. "(Brooks) Robinson, how could he have played any better?"

Paul Blair, the slick Yankee outfielder, played in Baltimore for several years with Brooks Robinson, the best-fielding third baseman in modern times.

"Both of them were so consistent," said Blair. "Whether they were hitting .330 or .130, they made all the plays in the field. Puff is the closest thing I've seen to Brooks. The man can play."

The thing Brooks could do better was come in and throw. Puff might have more range going to his left and a little better arm."

Guidry has the best pitching arm in baseball, but he was not overwhelming against the Dodgers. In fact, he was underwhelming.

"I had my fastball in the bullpen but lost it on the way to the mound," said the skinny left-hander. "I realized about the second or third inning that the ball wasn't popping, so I had to resort to something else. I took something off the ball, threw a lot of change-ups and pitched to spots."

"When my fastball is working, I don't have to throw change-ups."

Dodger slugger Reggie Smith fanned to end the game. It was only a fourth strikeout of the game for Guidry, who surrendered a season-high seven walks and eight hits.

"I had anticipated more heat from Guidry," said Smith. "He struck me out on a change-up, a slow change-up. That isn't fair."

Yankee catcher Thurman Munson, who singled in one run and then scored in the seventh, helped nurse Guidry through his struggles.

"You know the song, 'I did it my way.' That's the way Guidry pitched tonight. Slow stuff and more slow stuff. His slider wasn't any good and he didn't pop my glove. It had to be my way," said Munson.

The Dodgers closed within 2-1 in the third on Bill Russell's RBI single. But they never scored again, stranding 11 baserunners — three on third base.

"Guidry pitched just well enough with men on base," said Garvey. "And we kept on making a mistake: we kept hitting the ball to Nettles."

The Dodgers certainly could afford a third-game loss a lot more than the Yankees.

"We're still in the driver's seat," said Lopez. "They have to win three out of four and we just have to win two. I'm pretty sure we're a .500 team."

Punting may play a deciding role in today's Ohio Valley Conference clash (7:30 p.m.) between Murray State and Middle Tennessee at Roy Stewart Stadium. The Racers' Wes Ferguson (33) ranks sixth in the OVC with a 37.1 yards a kick average, while Middle's Randy Saunders is second in the league and No. 2 nationally with a 42.1 average. Saunders and Ferguson also rank first and second in number of times punted in the conference with 32 and 30, respectively. Above, Roger Rushing blocks a UT-Martin player.

Ashe Advances In South Pacific; Nastase Wins

BRISBANE, Australia — Topseeded Arthur Ashe ousted Alan Stone of Australia 4-6, 6-4, 7-5 in the men's singles quarter-finals of the $50,000 South Pacific Tennis Classic.

In other quarter-final action, Mark Edmondson of Australia eliminated fellow countryman Ross Case 6-0, 4-6-3.

BARCELONA, Spain — Ilie Nastase of Romania, Paolo Bertolucci of Italy, Balazs Torocay of Hungary and Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia advanced to the men's singles semifinals of the $175,000 Count of Godo Tennis Tournament.

Nettles' Hero Always Had A Baseball Glove On

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
NEW YORK — When Graig Nettles played cops and robbers as a kid, he didn't get his kicks blasting away with both guns. He enjoyed looking down the steely throat of a sixshooter and daring it to do its worst.

When he dreamed of some day becoming a great baseball player, he didn't envision himself as a Babe Ruth or a Lou Gehrig, poling prodigious home runs into the second-tier seats while fans screamed hysterically.

He saw himself standing close to third base, daring the guy with the piece of lumber in his hand at home plate to try to hit a ball past him.

His hero never has been Ruth or Gehrig, the handsome 6-foot Californian said after a sensational ball-devouring exhibition Friday night that gave the New York Yankees a 5-1 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"It always has been Brooks Robinson," he said, referring to the legendary vacuum cleaner of the Baltimore Orioles.

"Some people look down their noses at defense. To them, hitting is the big thing. Me? I love to play defense. I think it's as important as offense."

"I'd rather save four runs with my glove than score four runs with a bases-loaded home run."

That's exactly what Nettles did in the third game at Yankee Stadium, preventing a possible Yankee catastrophe.

The crowd of 56,447 came to cheer Ron Guidry, the Yankees' 25-3 mound ace, and the rajah of "Ribbies" (runs batted in), Reggie Jackson. They wound up giving a standing ovation to the guy with the golden glove.

Nettles made four diving, scrambling stabs of hard-hit balls, two with the bases loaded, all snuffing out incipient Dodger rallies.

The first came in the third — a headlong lunge to spear a rocket-like shot off the bat of Reggie Smith with two men on base. In the fifth, he nailed another certain hit by Smith, preventing the ball from shooting into the outfield, and then ended the threat with a miraculous stop of a shot by Steve Garvey.

The bases were loaded again in the sixth when Davey Lopes challenged him with a burner down the line. Nettles gobbled it up as if it were a lollipop.

"It was like a day at the beach," he quipped afterward. His lip is as sharp as his glove.

"I couldn't have done it without him," said Guidry, who survived his wildest outing of the year. "The greatest exhibition by a third baseman I've ever seen," commented Dodgers Manager Tom Lasorda.

Nettles acknowledged that he played his position with a 4-year-old glove with a tear in the pocket and with a fierce love for close combat.

Jones Will Attempt To Rescue 2-4 Colts

By the Associated Press
For Coach Ted Marchibroda and the Baltimore Colts, the long wait appears to be over. Quarterback Bert Jones will probably return to action Sunday against the New York Jets.

"How long can you go without your better football players?" Marchibroda wondered as the Colts staggered along without Jones and a host of others, losing four of their first six games of the season. "We're very fortunate we're in the position we are with the problems we've faced this season. We're 2-4 but only two games out with 10 to go. We feel Bert will be ready to play. From all indications his shoulder is healed."

Jones' preseason shoulder separation was only one of the problems faced by Marchibroda. Lydell Mitchell was traded away to San Diego after getting into a salary dispute. Stan White, George Kunz and several other players also were sidelined by injuries and Nelson Munsey retired.

Still, the Colts are within striking distance of first place in the American Conference East with Miami and New England 4-2.

The Dolphins have played all but eight minutes of the season (the last eight minutes of last Monday night's 21-0 victory over Cincinnati) without quarterback Bob Griese. He figures to start this Sunday in San Diego. And New England may have to do without its No. 1 quarterback, Steve Grogan, when the Pats visit Cincinnati. Grogan who has a hand injury.

The Jets, meanwhile, are guided these days by Matt Robinson in the absence of Richard Todd, sidelined by a broken collarbone. New York demolished Buffalo 45-14 last Sunday to even its mark at 3-3.

In Sunday's other games it's Los Angeles at Minnesota, New Orleans at San Francisco, Detroit at Atlanta, Pittsburgh at Cleveland, Seattle vs. Green Bay at Milwaukee, Tampa Bay at the New York Giants, Washington at Philadelphia, Buffalo at Houston, Dallas at St. Louis and Kansas City at Oakland. Chicago, with newly acquired defensive tackle Alan Page, visits Denver Monday night.

Jones has completed 78 percent of his passes against the Jets in nine previous games. The Colts have won six in a row over New York, connecting for 13 touchdowns in that span.

The Jets have gone almost exclusively to a running game in Todd's absence. Last week they gained 231 yards rushing, including 91 by Kevin Long, who tied a one-game club record with three touchdowns on the ground. Long has rushed for 368 yards and gained another 103 on 11 receptions. Joe Washington, obtained in the Mitchell trade, leads the Colts in rushing with 286 yards and in receiving with 16 catches.

The Steelers and Browns are in a rematch of their Sept. 24 game when Pittsburgh, on Terry Bradshaw's 100th career TD pass, won 15-9 in overtime. Pittsburgh, Los Angeles and Washington are trying to remain unbeaten while St. Louis and Cincinnati are looking for their first victories of the year.

Fort Knox Stuns Meade County

By the Associated Press
LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Fort Knox and Breathitt County, a pair of unranked AAA teams, have made solid bids for recognition on the Kentucky high school football scene.

Fort Knox, 6-1, made the biggest noise of the weekend with an 18-7 upset of previously unbeaten Meade County, the top-ranked State AAA team. Breathitt County, meanwhile, won its ninth straight game of the season with a 48-0 roasting of M.C. Napier.

Meade County, 7-1, jumped ahead of Knox on William Valentine's 49-yard touchdown run, but that advantage was shortlived. Knox's David Fuhrmann returned a fumble 25 yards for a score, and Mike Williams and Steve Nagy later added short TD runs to finish Meade County's 10-game winning streak.

Danny Back roared for four touchdowns and 153 yards in leading Breathitt County's rout.

Three other ranked teams were beaten, but two of those losses came at the hands of other rated outfits. No. 2 Corbin of State AA slipped by fifth-ranked Somerset 6-3 on the strength of Roy Taylor's oneyard run while, in State A, top-ranked Paintsville slaughtered previously unbeaten and fourth-ranked Raceland 45-0.

In the other game, Dayton surprised No. 3 Beechwood of State A by 14-7 as Tom Brown scored on runs of 70 and 64 yards in a 198-yard performance.

Four other top-ranked teams won as expected. Trinity of Jefferson County AAAA stopped Eastern 28-7, Greenup County of State AAAA nipped Barbourville, W.Va., 7-6 on Marvin Munn's fourth-period TD run and a conversion kick by Bruce Mantz, and Mayfield of State AA blasted Trigg County 35-10.

Due to all-day rain showers that soaked playing fields across the state, two games were postponed until tonight, both involving State AAA teams.

Injuries, Injuries

Two Racer Basketballers Sidelined Before Practice Begins

By TONY WILSON
Sports Editor

Injuries always play a significant role in basketball, as in other team sports, but rarely does a coach have to worry about them before his team has even begun preseason practice.

That's the situation facing first-year Murray State basketball Coach Ron Greene. NCAA rules permit workouts for college basketball teams to begin Sunday, but Greene and his staff will start without two promising newcomers.

Mike Diederick, a 6-10 junior center, and Harvey McNeal, a 5-11 junior guard, both are out indefinitely after suffering similar knee injuries.

Diederick, according to Greene, sustained his injury — torn cartilage — during a touch football game, but not while he was playing. "I think he was getting ready to go in and he was hit on the sidelines," said Greene.

McNeal, a transfer from Phillips County Community College in Helena, Ark., also injured a knee while attempting a layup in a workout.

"We are definitely disappointed that these injuries occurred before practice even began," said Greene. "But we're hopeful that we can recover well enough to still field a good squad."

Greene is entering his first season as the Racers coach after being named the Southeastern Conference "Coach of the Year" at Mississippi State last season. He guided the Rebels to a second-place finish in the league, behind eventual national-champion Kentucky.

Greene is uncertain of what type of team he will have, but based on his comments and coaching philosophy, it will likely differ from Fred Overton teams of the past four years, which displayed a fast-breaking, wide-open offense.

"We will probably structure a pattern-oriented attack, in a very disciplined manner," Greene said earlier this year. "We want a controlled situation and will work hard on shot selection."

Greene also stated that his defense will be primarily man-to-man, though he will employ a zone on occasion.

This year's Murray squad will be stocked with five newcomers whom are junior college transfers, and Greene has a reason.

"Junior college transfers have always been good to me," he said. "Some coaches try to get away from recruiting junior college players, but I've had good success with them."

Composed primarily of junior-college players, Greene's 1973-74 University of New Orleans squad was ranked No. 1 nationally in Division II in the final Associated Press poll.

Greene, 39, owns a 189-98 career coaching record.

The reinstatement of the automatic bid to the NCAA post-season tournament to the Ohio Valley Conference, says Greene, will make a tremendous difference in the amount of exposure the league will get.

"That is the key to big-time college basketball," said Greene. "The right to compete for the national title should be the right of every basketball league."

Earlier in the year, the NCAA executive board considered withdrawing the automatic berth from five conferences — one of them the OVC — but a proposal by a group representing the OVC at the board's meeting helped sway their decision.

Five lettermen return from last year's squad which lost 18 of 26 games and finished seventh in the league race.

John Randall, a 6-8 forward, Bobo Jackson, a 6-2 guard, Tom Leffler, a 6-4 senior, David Lowry, a 5-11 sophomore, and Robert Kelly, a 6-5 forward, all return, as does redshirt senior Roy Taylor, Indiana's "Mr. Basketball" his senior season in high school.

Other newcomers are Allen Mann, a 6-5 junior forward; Barry Snow, a 6-5 junior forward; Keith Oglesby, a 6-5 junior forward; Gordon Melton, a 6-6 freshman forward; Kenny Hammonds, a 6-5 freshman forward; Herman Boyd, a 6-5 freshman forward; and Tom Adams, a 6-3 freshman guard.

The Racers will practice from approximately 1 to 3:30 p.m. daily, except for Sundays. "We wouldn't practice this Sunday," said Greene. "Except for the fact that opening day for practice falls on a Sunday. They'll usually have that day off."

Southern Cal Faces Arizona

HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

There will be something old and something new on opposite sides of the field tonight when Southern California invades Sun Devil Stadium in Tempe, Ariz., for a Pacific-10 Conference meeting with Arizona State.

Something old is Southern Cal, a perennial conference power — eight Rose Bowl trips, in the last 12 years — and ranked second in the nation in the latest Associated Press college football poll.

Something new is Arizona State, one of the two fledgling members of the conference who have enlarged the old Pac-8 into the current Pac-10.

"I've never been to Arizona State, but I'm sure it'll be tough," says USC Coach John Robinson. "Any time you're a home team playing before a rabid crowd you've got an advantage."

And Arizona State will have 67,000 of its ticket-holders in the 70,311-seat stadium.

"The whole basis of Arizona State's offense is explosiveness," says Robinson. "Frank Kush has produced some of the great skill people in college football, and I think their offense this year is similar to their great ones of the past."

"They're willing to wheel and deal with the ball. They remind me in that way of Stanford, which might be willing to throw the ball 10 straight times. And I think Arizona State has quarterbacks who are capable of doing that and completing 10 or 12 in a row. If they're having a hot night they can be as potent an offensive team as there is in the country."

Although Arizona State fans are acting like there's no tomorrow, Kush says that if the Sun Devils lose — and they are a decided underdog — "The sun will still come up in the East the next morning."

But the excitement even seems to have the Arizona State publicity department in its grip. This week's release says things like "USC...THE Trojans...THE Number Tworanked team in the nation...In THE most important regular season game ever to be played at Sun Devil Stadium."

after a horrible exhibition against Washington State."

Ironically, Arizona State is 1-0 against Pacific Coast A.A. opposition and 2-0 against teams from the Western Athletic Conference, the league it left to join the Pac-10. But an embarrassing 56-14 loss to Washington State makes the Sun Devils only 0-1 in their own Pac-10.

"We're not as big and physical as USC," says Kush. "We can't play them one-on-one. Physically, they'll dominate us. But there's one thing about the Sun Devils — they always get up for the tough one. Our kids will be up. USC will know it's been in a football game."

In the afternoon, top-rated Oklahoma visits Kansas, Michigan State is at No. 5 Michigan, Florida at No. 7 Alabama, Kansas State at No. 8 Nebraska, No. 9 Pitt at Notre Dame and No. 10 Maryland at Syracuse. Arkansas and Penn State, tied for third in this week's AP ratings, are idle.

In the Second Ten, No. 13 Colorado is at Oklahoma State, No. 15 Florida State at Mississippi State, No. 16 Ohio State at Purdue, Washington at No. 18 Stanford and No. 20 Iowa State at No. 19 Missouri.

Opening Night For NBA

Bullets Off And Running

The Bullets received their 1977-78 championship rings from Commissioner Larry O'Brien in ceremonies prior to Friday night's National Basketball Association season opener. They then went out and raced to a 17-4 lead over New Orleans and were never headed, starting their defense of their title with an impressive 117-101 victory.

"I told the players before the game that the ring was symbolic," said Washington Coach Dick Motta. "It's a confidence builder. I wanted to wear it during the game. It's difficult to explain...there's something being champion."

"But it's history now and the job is ahead of us."

The job is to repeat as champion, something no team has done in the past decade, not since the mighty Boston Celtics in 1968 and 1969.

In other NBA season openers, the Denver Nuggets trimmed the San Antonio Spurs 118-117, the Houston Rockets beat the New York Knicks 111-107, the Cleveland Cavaliers defeated the Boston Celtics 115-101, the Philadelphia 76ers topped the Los Angeles Lakers 110-102, the New Jersey Nets edged the Detroit Pistons 107-105, the Indiana Pacers downed the Atlanta Hawks 117-104, the Phoenix Suns beat the San Diego Clippers 128-114 and the Seattle SuperSonics defeated the Chicago Bulls 104-86.

Nuggets 118, Spurs 117. David Thompson's stuff shot with 23 seconds left capped a 27-point game and broke the final tie as the Nuggets edged the Spurs. A free throw with eight seconds to play by newcomer Charke Scott provided the margin of victory as San Antonio's Larry Kenon, who scored 20 of his 38 points in the fourth quarter, hit a basket at the buzzer.

Rockets 111, Knicks 107.

The Duck Call

By Charlie McKenney
Ducks Unlimited Secretary

On Nov. 16 the local chapter of Ducks Unlimited will hold a banquet and auction to raise money for the national chapter. With area merchants being asked for donations to auction at the banquet, I thought an article on what the national chapter of Ducks Unlimited has done and is doing for North American waterfowl would be appropriate.

The following information comes from DU literature.

Ducks Unlimited was founded in 1937 to help restore prime waterfowl breeding grounds in Canada, where well over 70 per cent of all North American waterfowl are hatched.

Since its inception, DU has completed over 1400 wetland restoration projects. These projects have benefited man as well as ducks by creating a stabilized water supply for agriculture and industry. More than $70,000,000 has been raised in DU's forty year history, $58,000,000 of which has been spent on wetland improvement and management. This means that almost $80 of every dollar contribution to DU goes directly into project construction.

Presently, DU membership stands at approximately 250,000, many of whom have been enrolled by over 1,100 DU chapters nationwide.

Ducks Unlimited has served almost 3,000,000 habitat acres which provides nearly 11,000 miles of vital nesting shoreline for waterfowl. In 1977 DU raised over $13,000,000 for wetland habitat restoration and, as a result of a 5 year fund-raising goal established in 1976, must raise $68,000,000 by 1981 to accelerate wetland restoration work in Canada. So any contribution you make through money, gift donation, or time to DU is a vital link to the future of North American waterfowl.

Tuesday, Oct. 17, at 7:00 p.m. the local chapter of DU will meet at the University Branch Bank of Murray. A great duck hunting film will be shown. Banquet tickets will also be available.

Please try to attend, I know you will enjoy the film.

It's about time for me to start talking about safety while duck hunting.

I hope that all the leaks in your hip boots as well as your duck boots have been patched. Check that old life jacket and make sure it still floats. Make sure you have an extra shear pin that fits the prop on your boat motor. Paddling on a cold day is not much fun, of course you must have a paddle in the boat if you are going to forget the shear pin. Carrying dry matches could be a life saver so don't forget them.

MAY ALL YOUR HUNTING BE SAFE AND ENJOYABLE.

TVA Studying Effects Heated Water Has On Smallmouths

ATHENS, Ala. — TVA is completing a study of the effects of heated water on smallmouth bass, with an unexpected bonus for the Upper Bear Creek Reservoir in north Alabama.

The fish used in the study, which began last November, spawned in the spring, to the surprise of TVA fishery biologists working at the agency's biothermal laboratory at Browns Ferry Nuclear Plant near here.

A bigger surprise was that the spawn involved year-old fish and occurred about a month earlier than smallmouth generally spawn in north Alabama.

The result is that about 500 smallmouth bass will be stocked at Upper Bear Creek if all goes well with capture and transfer operations.

"We have no idea why these fish spawned so early," said Bill Wrenn, project manager at the biothermal laboratory operated by TVA's Division of Forestry, Fisheries, and Wildlife Development. "Smallmouth generally spawn at about three years of age, and they normally spawn in May. But these fish spawned in April."

Current research into effects of heated water on selected species of fish began two years ago and dealt with walleye. That study showed there were some adverse effects at the higher temperature ranges. But it also showed that walleye have a higher temperature tolerance than previous laboratory studies had indicated.

The study on smallmouth bass showed virtually no adverse effects, even when temperatures were 12 to 15 degrees above what the fish normally experience in Wheeler Reservoir and nearby streams, Wrenn said.

The biothermal laboratory has 12 channels used in the research program, each 360 feet long and 14 feet wide. They contain 20 inches of natural river mud and have a maximum water depth of four feet. The channels also contain shallow areas with rock which attract aquatic life forms and provide spawning areas for bluegill and smallmouth.

Wrenn said water temperatures in the channels during the past year ranged normally from 34 to 88 degrees. During the hottest months of the summer, the warmest channels contained water at temperatures ranging about 100 degrees.

The smallmouth in the heated channels grew during the colder months of the year at a much faster rate than those in the cold water channels, Wrenn said.

"But during the summer, the fish in the colder channels caught up, so that at the end of the study period all the fish were about the same size regardless of the temperature of the water."

Another surprising thing about last spring's spawn, Wrenn said, was that it involved fish in all temperature ranges of the laboratory channels. "We don't know, but there may be fish in the lake which naturally spawn at an early age," he said.

The overall object of the TVA studies is to determine what effects heated water discharges from electric power generating plants have on aquatic life near plant locations.

COUNTING FISH BY POUNDS

Knowing that many anglers like to stay informed about their favorite activity, Mercury Outboards' fishing department looked into the question of how many fish a given body of water will support.

They learned that it isn't the number of fish which count, but the number of pounds of fish. The following information, developed by biologist Kenneth Carlander, gives an idea of the carrying capacity by species of fish in lakes.

It shows that the poundage of fish per acre is limited, although the number of fish may not be. In other words, a one-acre lake might support 60 one-pound black bass, or it might support one 60-pound black bass (with 60,000 fishermen chasing it), but it probably will never support more than 60 pounds of black bass.

The figure in parentheses after each species is the maximum number of pounds of that fish that a one-acre lake could support:

Pike (22); walleye (30); largemouth bass (60); channel catfish (60); crappie (70); bluegill (150); gizzard shad (450); and carp (500).

This also shows that the least desirable fish, carp and shad, can be supported in far greater numbers than the most popular sport fishes.

This difference in carrying capacity occurs because game fish are the top predators while most of the others serve as forage fish.

Jerry Maupin's

I am sure you have heard some of the results on the Crooked Creek fish study. I was a believer in brush piles and tree tops a long time ago. The study just made public the pounds and percentages of fish taken from areas that had structured placed and marked for fishermen and these areas contained double or more fish than areas without brush.

Anyone that has ever crappie fished in a treetop knows it is a better place than a straight bank. The Murray Bass Club ended their regular monthly tournaments for the year and the top tournament fisherman was Jerry McConnell.

Neil Stubblefield won the mini classic and Dale Spann won the challenge. I know these guys have worked hard this year and deserve these awards.

I talked with Jackie Vaughn Monday night and he told me about a nice bass'n trip the same day. He fished the well known lunker lures over shallow stumps, treetops and rocks to boat his ten bass limit.

Jackie said the bass were hitting the lure as he buzzed it at different speeds losing one fish for the day. They were serious about it when you catch them like that.

The lunker lure has been around several years and is one of the best topwater lures a person can use.

I have been on the bass for a few days and it looks like the fall movement is in full swing. If we have some mild weather for a few weeks look out! You could work at it a little bit and fill the freezer.

I fished for crappie a couple of times when it was very windy and caught a few small ones. I just can't enjoy it like I do bass fishing.

Several people have done well by using minnows on the drop-offs and ledges in Blood River. They were fishing in the 8 to 10 foot water bumping the edge real easy. I think the water level will stabilize and the crappie will really get on with the program.

The Sauger have moved into shallow water and you can still catch them casting for bass on the flats near schools of shad minnows. Trolling is still the best method to take the larger Sauger however.

Blüegill can be taken along the shoreline or small files and spinners most of the day. They get hungry for bugs before anything else does.

This weekend may be rainy and damp so bundle up and go anyway, happy fishing!

Experienced Anglers Regard Fall As Good Fishing Time

By John Wilson

If you put away your fishing tackle after the Labor Day weekend or the beginning of dove season, you may have made a big mistake.

Experienced anglers regard fall as one of the best times of the year to catch fish. Many consider it second in productivity only to the spring spawning period.

During the hot summer months, many game species retreat to deep water sanctuaries, where they are difficult for all but veteran structure fishermen to locate. Except during feeding flurries at dawn and dusk, summer fishing can be downright frustrating.

But the picture changes dramatically as the water starts cooling and the sun's rays become more oblique. The combination of lower temperatures and less harsh, penetrating light allows the fish to remain longer in shallow water, where they are more likely to encounter the angler's offering.

Surface lures, spinner baits and the relatively new "buzz" baits are good bass producers in the fall. The buzz bait resembles the safety-pin spinner bait, except for a specially designed spinner blade. These lures run across the surface of the water with a bubbling, gurgling sound which really seems to attract shallow-water bass.

Check out some of the same areas where you caught fish last spring, because fall locational patterns often resemble those of the spawning period. In fact, at least one angling authority refers to a "false spawn" period in the fall. This period occurs when the water temperature drops to the temperature at which the fish spawn in the spring. Who knows, maybe the fish are fooled and think it's time to spawn again.

Some fishing techniques that are associated with summer continue through autumn. Quiet, calm fall mornings are good times to look for white bass "in the jumps," chasing schools of shad. Sometimes one- to two-pound largemouth or Kentucky bass join in, and a mixed bag of black and white bass is possible.

Night fishing for white bass and crappie is also productive until winter arrives. But because fall nights are cool, this kind of fishing appeals to the hardy, the warmly dressed or those who own houseboats. But in spite of the chill, fall fishing at night can be a good way to put at last mess of fresh fish in the freezer before winter sets in.

An added bonus the fall fisherman enjoys is the beautiful fall weather, with its crisp air and deep blue skies. Add the brilliance of fall colors and it's nice to be out on the water even if the fish aren't biting.

Dry Gear Before Storing

A familiar sight in fishing ports is nets hung up to dry. Commercial fishermen know that it's inviting expensive trouble to put their big nets into storage lockers while still wet. It leads to mildew and rot.

And in popular yachting centers you can see docked sailboats with sails and ropes spread out and hung up so they can dry thoroughly.

The MerCruiser stern drive boating authorities recommend that you take a profitable tip from these observations.

If you use your boat only on weekends, try to put things away on Sunday evening already dried out, or arranged so they can dry thoroughly during the week.

For example, toward the end of the day you can spread the anchor line out on the cockpit floor en route back to port, so that the combination of remaining sunlight and moving air can go to work on it.

One of the advantages of having a cockpit cover for a docked or moored boat is that since it keeps cockpit items covered and out of sight of passers-by, you can leave things such as PFD's and cushions spread out so they can dry thoroughly.

A good cockpit cover will have provisions for ample air circulation. Otherwise, marine supply stores sell plastic ventilating scoops that can be fitted into a cockpit cover.

When it's time to put the rig away for the winter, a really thorough drying-out program is in order. The more you look around, the more things you can find that will benefit from an airing.

Many seat cushions, for example, have zippers along their back sides so that foam blocks inside can be removed. Some kinds of foam soak up a surprising amount of water.

Also, undoing just one small screw usually suffices to open up a navigation light so that any small amount of water that has gotten in from rain or spray can dry out. If you leave it there, it will remain long enough to corrode the bulb in its socket.

'Safety-Minder' Added To Hunter Safety Pledge Kit

The thousands of hunters and outdoorsmen who take the Marlin Firearms Company's Safety Pledge this year will receive the company's newly-designed "Safety-Minder" as part of the popular Hunter Safety Pledge Kit.

The three-inch, red and white "Safety-Minder", imprinted with the words "IS IT LOADED?", is designed to cover the trigger guard area of firearms to remind the owner to insure that the chamber and magazine are empty.

Marlin's safety pledge appears on the back cover of the company catalog which is distributed to more than one million sportsmen annually. Hunters are asked to read the kit to send 50 cents along with a request for enrollment in the non-profit program. In return for taking the pledge, the hunter receives a Safety Pledge

Kit which includes an embroidered shoulder patch, a wallet card, a certificate suitable for framing, a bumper sticker, and one of the new Safety Minders.

The Safety Pledge Program was developed in 1975 as part of the company's continuing commitment to firearms safety and conservation.

Those wishing to take the pledge should write for more information: Marlin Safety Pledge, 100 Kenna Drive, North Haven, Connecticut 06473.

Blacks Receive Awards

Certificate of Achievement awards have been presented to Black's Decorating Center, 701 S. 4th St., Murray. The awards were presented by W. G. Wickham, midwest regional director of the Glidden Coatings and Resins Group Division of the S. C. M. Corp., Oak Brook, Ill.

Wickham, who is responsible for trade sales of the entire midwest region, said that the degree is only awarded to those individuals who successfully complete the Van Valkenburg, Nooger and Nevelle, Inc., a New York firm, training course.

Wickham also said that the investment of time and energy in this course is commendable and represents a desire to become more proficient and knowledgeable in the sale of paint and paint products.

"This award identifies you as being a professional," Wickham said to center owner Carlos Black and his staff in making the presentation.

Independent Oilers Feel Squeeze

"Recycled" service stations are a common sight all across Kentucky these days; filling stations have become fast-food shops or convenience stores. Garbage bays dispense insurance policies and consumer loans instead of oil filters and engine tune-ups. Where cars once drove in to fill'er up, open air markets and tree nurseries flourish.

And many abandoned service stations stand silent, with weeds growing around the pumps and grime collecting on plate glass windows.

Statistically, according to the Kentucky Gasoline Dealers Association, there are about 1,550 full-service stations now operating in Kentucky, compared to about 1,900 two years ago. And the association lays the blame for that not on escalating prices for petroleum products, not on real or imagined shortages, but on the major oil companies who are "driving us out of business," as one former dealer puts it.

Stations owned and operated by those oil companies aren't the ones hardest hit. It's the stations that are leased by independent dealers from those oil companies, and those that are franchised operations, that are feeling the squeeze.

One such dealer who says high rental fees drove him out of business explains: "My rent jumped from $260 a month to $1,000. I simply couldn't make it. Even though gasoline was doubled in price the last few years, it's not the dealer who's getting fat. It's the big oil companies," said Jim Atkins.

How can I make it, when the company I rent from sells the same gas down the street for less? The company owns that station and doesn't have to pay itself rent," says another dealer.

But the independent dealers aren't giving up. Their state association is looking with renewed hope at a new Maryland law, upheld by the U. S. Supreme Court in June, that prohibits major oil companies from operating stations at the retail level. The Kentucky Gasoline Dealers Association wants to see a similar law enacted by the next General Assembly, and according to Bill McIntyre who serves as legislative chairman of the association, "it would eliminate unfair competition from oil companies."

Kentucky-based Ashland Oil is one of those companies which understandably opposes such legislation, and Ashland's B. W. Davis says "consumers will pay for this special interest legislation through higher prices which inevitably result in areas of stifled competition."

Another legislative hope of the dealers' association is repeal of Kentucky's requirement that any retailer selling gasoline must sell food in order to hold a license to sell beer. This is meant to cut down on the temptation for drivers to mix drinking and driving, but Mr. McIntyre says in reality it only serves to prevent gasoline dealers from cashing in on high-profit beer sales while allowing such sales at convenience stores that have gasoline as a sideline. "If gasoline and beer can mix at the neighborhood food mart, then that same mix occurs at the service station," he said.

State laws to prohibit oil companies from retailing their products and to allow gasoline dealers to sell beer are a while off, but recent federal legislation is giving the independent dealers some help in their struggle to stay afloat. The Petroleum Marketing Practices Act compels oil companies to negotiate new rents with dealers and also protects against arbitrary cancellation of leases. Ray Stoess, executive director of the Kentucky association, says this is already helping some dealers in the state; "It gives dealers some bargaining power," he says.

But there's still trouble at the service station, he concedes, and to his mind the public is the loser as more and more full-service stations shut off their pumps. Self-service operations tend to make drivers ignore routine maintenance; "Their cars will last longer if someone checks them regularly," he says. "In the long run, it will save them more on repairs and maintenance."

KENTUCKY STOCKS ON THE MOVE LAST WEEK — General market direction was upward. To the uninitiated the term "escheat law" would seem to apply to crooks and other scoundrels. Not so. All but three states have such laws, and they could apply to you, a relative, or a close friend.

The term is derived from old English Feudal Law. It originally referred to land that reverted back to the overseeing lord when legitimate heirs to a grant failed to claim it.

Today, the property in question could be a checking account, savings account, certificate of deposit, or the contents of your safe deposit box. While you may think to any such property in your name, the Uniform Disposition of Unclaimed Property Act states that you must not leave it dormant, or inactive, or risk losing it to the state as indefinite custodian at as little as a zero or one-per-cent interest rate.

The time period after which the property is turned over to the state varies by state law. In Michigan it's only two years. In Delaware it's 25. In many states it's seven, ten, or 15.

To make sure your checking and savings accounts remain active you should from time to time:

- increase or decrease the amount of the deposit,
- present your passbook for the crediting of interest, or
- correspond in writing with your bank about the account. Be sure to collect, or roll over, your time deposits as soon as they mature, and cash all money orders, certified checks, and travelers checks within a reasonable period of time, rather than keeping them in the bottom of a desk drawer for a "rainy day."

A safe deposit box is considered "active" as long as you keep up the rental payments as scheduled. If unclaimed beyond the time period stated in the law since the last payment, the valuables are auctioned off and personal items — such as photographs and letters — are thrown away.

Be assured that most banks do attempt to contact customers when the statutory limit draws near if any of their accounts are lying dormant. It's not only good banking practice, but good public relations to track down the owner or heirs.

In most states, if your property has already been turned over to the government, you may retrieve it, or its monetary equivalent, if you hold a valid claim. But that's not always easy to prove. If you have questions or need advice, check with your local banker.

Meanwhile, to avoid any possibility of having your property escheated or reverted to the state, make a list of all your accounts and keep it where it may be found if anything happens to you. Notify your bank when you move, and cash all checks promptly.

Although 17 inches shorter and more than 800 pounds lighter, the 1979 Mercury Marquis will offer buyers more interior room and the same deep-well trunk of its predecessor while maintaining the ride for which the Mercury nameplate has become known. In addition, new front and rear suspension and steering systems will make the new car more maneuverable. The standard powerplant of the 1979 Marquis will be a 5.0-liter (302-CID) V-8 engine. The optional 5.8-liter (351 CID) engine will feature a second-generation Electronic Engine-Control system that will use a small onboard computer to control six engine functions.

ASSOCIATES OF THE MONTH. Brenda Jones, left and Glenda Smith right have just been named associates of the month for Loretta Jobs Realtors. The award was given by Mrs. Jobs within her agency for combined listings and sales totaling $371,800 for the month of September.

Fisher-Price Opens New Plant

EAST AURORA, N.Y. — Fisher-Price officers from both the United States and Europe participated recently in brief ceremonies as the new Peterlee, England plant was formally dedicated.

Located 250 miles north of London on the eastern seaboard of England, the newest Fisher-Price facility began toymaking operations earlier this year and presently employs 55 people in a variety of fabrication, assembly, and warehousing jobs. Plant manager is Frank C. Yaverski, formerly manager of the Holland (N.Y.) plant of Fisher-Price.

The Peterlee plant is located in the region's North-West Industrial Estate and consists of two buildings, each approximately 25,000 sq. ft. The complex has been designed for future expansion.

Situated in an area that has very positive economic and logistical advantages for Fisher-Price, the Peterlee plant has been involved in the production of four Fisher-Price toys. The 1979 schedule calls for the assembly of 10 more items.

Fisher-Price operates a manufacturing and distribution center in Murray.

What George wanted to do was cross the Delaware on Christmas morning, surprise the British, and secure a badly needed victory.

What he needed was boats. Specially designed boats that could hold fifteen tons of men and artillery. That could move in either direction. Boats that had a draft of not more than 20 inches.

Happily, Robert Durham, a new American, had already designed and built them.

And other new Americans invested their cash to buy them.

And Washington sailed into a victory that turned the tide of the Revolution.

Today, millions of Americans can invest in America and come out winning, too.

Just sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan at work. That way, a little is set aside to buy Bonds for you.

Regularly. Automatically.

Buy U.S. Savings Bonds today. You'll have smooth sailing tomorrow.

Now E Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4 1/2% the first year). Lost, stolen or destroyed Bonds can be replaced if records are provided. When needed, Bonds can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Take stock in America.
